ABOUT ME

I am Nilesh Sarkar, a passionate MERN Stack Developer with a strong foundation in Data Structures and Algorithms (C++) and a deep interest in solving complex problems efficiently. I enjoy building scalable, performance-driven web applications and constantly improving my coding abilities through competitive programming and real-world projects.

With solid problem-solving skills and a collaborative mindset, I thrive in team environments and love contributing to impactful tech solutions. I am currently seeking opportunities to grow as a Full-Stack Developer and bring value to innovative projects
